WALKING THE CITY, FOLLOWING THE STAR

“WALKING THE CITY, PRAYING FOR HEARTS, AND FOLLOWING A SMALL STAR TO THE TRUE LIGHT—DECEMBER REMINDED US THAT EVEN THE SMALLEST ACTS OF FAITH CAN SHINE BRIGHTLY.” ✨

December was a full and meaningful month—one shaped by service, prayer, obedience, and community.

Throughout the month, I served through cleaning and practical support, helping keep the space welcoming and prepared, and assisted with media support wherever help was needed so services and ministry moments could flow smoothly.

Spiritually, December was deeply marked by prayer and consecration. I participated in prayer walks and committed to Daniel's Fast, choosing to be intentional about seeking God and aligning my heart with His. One especially meaningful moment took place during the Christmas Market at University Square, where I joined a prayer meeting in the middle of the city. Surrounded by noise and movement, we prayed for Bucharest, lifting prayers in **every direction—north, east, south, and west—**asking God to cover the city with His presence, bring healing, and draw hearts back to Him.

Creatively, I wrote a Christmas play from the perspective of one small star—not as the light itself, but as a humble witness pointing toward Jesus Christ, the true Light of the World. The story reflected a simple truth that carried through the entire month: obedience does not need to be loud to be powerful.

December also included moments of joy and fellowship. I celebrated Christmas with the Patterson family, sharing a warm and joyful gathering that reflected the beauty of Christian community and the gift of celebrating Christ together.

We also closed out the year with a powerful New Year's service, coming together to pray, worship, and dedicate the new year to God. It was a time of reflection, hope, and recommitment—ending the year in gratitude and starting the next with purpose.

December became a reminder that faithfulness is built through daily choices—to serve, to pray, to fast, to celebrate together, and to point others to Jesus in every season.

“If My people, who are called by My name, will humble themselves and pray and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and I will forgive their sin and will heal their land.”

2 Chronicles 7:14
