Winter in Eastern Europe

Arrival and Orientation

My sister and I arrived in Chisinau a few days before Orthodox Christmas. It was a beautiful introduction to this culture centered around family and community. For many people, New Years is a time to “reset.” Because of complications that rose at the start of January, official church services and English club meetings were put on hold. While not what anyone expected, this has offered the team here an opportunity to reorganize so that the work can flourish as God wills.

MK Care

One of the main reasons I came was to provide extra hands to care for the two precious “Little Missionaries” as the workload here grows. Silas and Adelina have made all the time we've spent together a memory-making adventure.

Sunday School

It's been a privilege to serve in God's favorite ministry every Sunday alongside my sister. We are also beginning the process of reorganizing the various methods used in the past into a cohesive curriculum system that will better fit the work as it grows.

In every season, we are thankful to see God glorified in His people.

God Bless!

Prayer Requests:

That further connections can be made with people genuinely hungry for God.

For favor with the government and peace in the process as visa paperwork for the McBrides and the work continues.

For Silas, who has had some health struggles, that he would be able to recover quickly.

For my sister and I that we can serve as needed, to the best of our ability!

Often it's the little things that fill our minds. A smile you give on the bus, a Sunday school craft that speaks truth, or even a child's awe as you teach him about sunbeams. Though not obvious, they fill the Bible too. Perhaps because it's in them that God plants tokens of love for this world He made. Thank you for supporting us as we support the work in Moldova in these little, important, things.

Mattarasci!
