Prayer Requests:

That hungry hearts would be drawn to God, and that seeds planted would prosper.

For favor with those in authority as the work grows and for wisdom in a season of transition.

For health and protection for the whole team, especially the children.

For my sister and I that we can serve as needed, to the best of our ability.

Every Day with Jesus

A Month of Preparation

February has gone by so quickly for us here in Moldova. It began with unexpected illness and ice but has been wrapping up with health and warm weather. It has been both quiet and incredibly busy at different times and in different ways. We have been able to see more sides of the culture here and can see some doors opening. It's often small steps forward, but we are excited to see where God directs them. Every smile and English Club invitation is in God's hands.

Sunday School

Sunday school every week is a new opportunity to level with the kids and see what we can learn about God. I have been able to teach several times, together with my sister.

Alongside the actual teaching, we continue to organize the current materials into a more accessible structure. It's a continual process, and we look forward to how it changes with the work.

The MKs

My sister and I often watched the two little McBrides this month. After fighting off several cold-weather illnesses, both children are taking a break from school. Instead, we have been working some homeschooling time into their weekday schedules. No day is boring around these two awesome kiddos!

And as Always,

In every season, we are thankful to see what God is doing through his people. Thank you for all the ways you support that.

God Bless!

February is the last month of winter here in Moldova. The weather may still be cold, and snow may still fall, but there are flowers beginning to push their leaves through the soil. Even though they will bloom into a glory rivaling Solomon's, it's easy to mistake them for grass right now. Similarly, it may be that the lessons that shape us are tucked amid the chaos of everyday life so closely that we can easily miss them. Sometimes life is February. It's not a lack of progress. It's a season of preparation. It's a time to be watering God's garden.

Mattamasc!
