We started this month with 3 baptisms! As I talked to them it was evident they had been thinking about it, as Pastor Danny had been teaching about repentance and having faith in Jesus's power to save. Such young but hungry hearts. On the 14th we had a powerful service .

As much as the devil wanted to stop the service, Gods hand moved mightily. We had one girl from our youth baptized with the Holy Ghost. As I played and sang during alter call I could see how it came exactly like the day of Pentecost, rushing in and full of fire. The youth are hungry for God and it's an honor to work for the kingdom and witness what God is doing in Belize

Again, God just keeps revealing marvelous things to me. Everyday I learn something new. From the culture to how every church worships God. I have rejoiced with the brothers and sisters that I have met at all the different churches I have visited! Belize is growing and revival is here ! The Becceras have taught me and guided me so much. Not only have I grown in my translation skills but also in healing areas that I kept hidden from God. If Missions has taught me anything it's the reminder of true humility towards God.

Serving yes, but there's something we forget when we're in the comfortability of our home church. Humility. We get so caught up in serving, we forget to depend on God in all areas. Slow down and just fall into his presence and fall more in love with him.

If there's anything I've learned from the Mayan churches, it's that they are the best at hospitality. I have tried some of the best dishes and drinks. So yes apart from getting deeper in Gods will, I am also getting to taste and explore delicious foods! After all the prepping we did in January for the General assembly, the days finally came. I had the privilege to meet Regional directors Bro. & Sis. Shuarz . The General assembly was such a beautiful thing to witness and experience. From the womens teaching to Bro. Shuarz's preaching about letting it get down the the wire, because God will always show up. We ended the assembly by taking communion. It brought everyone together and there was no better way to close it then everyone being in one accord thanking Hod for his sacrifice on the cross
