

SENEGAL FOR JESUS

FIRST WEEK IN SENEGAL

An Arrival Filled with Grace

An Arrival Filled with Grace

We arrived in Senegal on Sunday, March 22, and from the very first moments, we saw the hand of God at work.

Upon our arrival, we were warmly welcomed at the airport by the Sully family. They had kindly prepared accommodations for us for our arrival.

This simple yet loving gesture deeply touched us and greatly helped us, especially with the children.

From this first contact, we felt the human warmth present in Senegal, a value known for its hospitality and sense of sharing. This greatly facilitated our settling in and allowed us to begin this mission in peace and gratitude.

A Week of Foundation and Connection

This first week was dedicated to a phase of adjustment and laying the foundation.

We had the opportunity to:

- Meet the church leaders
- Take part in times of sharing with the Sully family
- Experience meaningful moments of fellowship, teaching, and communion
- Share several fraternal meals together

These exchanges were precious in helping us better understand:

- The missionary context
- Local realities
- The vision carried by the church

Workshop & Impact on the Field

From Thursday to Saturday, we participated in an evangelism workshop led by:

- Pastor Sully
- Pastor Gibbs
- Ourselves

These times were both practical and spiritually enriching, equipping the church for the work of evangelism.

On Friday, we also had the opportunity to discover a new place for preaching, about 20 people in Keur Massar, located approximately 45 minutes from the main church.

Saturday was also a significant moment: the entire church went out into the streets to:

- Proclaim the Good News
- Pray for the sick
- Encourage people in distress

POWERFUL SUNDAY

Sunday marked a strong highlight of this first week of mission.

Several meaningful moments took place:

- Our family presentation before the whole church
- The presence of 4 visitors at the service
- 3 baptisms in the Holy Spirit
- The planning of 2 Bible studies

The presence of God was tangible, confirming that the seed is already bearing fruit.

We look forward with faith to what God will accomplish in this nation in the months ahead.

And the word of God continued to spread, and the number of disciples increased greatly.— Acts 12:24
