

We Are Belize

God has been moving greatly in the children of Belize. We had the opportunity to have a children's crusade and two received the Holy Ghost. Glory to God! If I've learned anything, it's that no matter what, Belizeans are always ready to worship God. I was able to experience how God touches Belize with his spirit. It shakes the foundation and spreads like wildfire. Im grateful for this.

Highlights of the month

- Hanging out with Team Belize
- Women's Conference in San Felipe UPCI
- Zoo trip with some of the cotton tree youth
- Special surprise service at Centro Vida church in Belize city for us the Aimers
- Participating in a watermelon eating contest at another women's conference in San Felipe UPCI

Connections

One thing that stood out this month was making connections. Connect with God because that's how you live a true victorious life. Connect with people. They need people who are willing to pour into them. Help them know who God truly is. One thing that I found helped me to connect with people, no matter the culture, was a game. Everywhere I'd go I would take out my UNO card game and by the time we're done we already had 8 new people play. I was able to meet and connect with a lot of youth and kids like this

Music Lessons

I started the teach 5 of our young people at cotton tree preaching point. In just one lesson they learned to play a song and know chord numbers. God is starting to use them at such a young age and it's a privilege to serve and teach them what I can.

Beautiful Belize

This was my last month in Belize before I head to Brazil. Really there's no words to describe my gratitude for the eternal mark this chapter of my life made. I went from being a lost girl from Washington, to a girl who's fallen in love with missions. I could feel a calling to missions and this trip has confirmed that. I grew emotionally, spiritually, and physically. Sister Esther told me, "BE RESILIENT" & "BE YOU". I lost myself and I found myself here in Belize. I found my Passion for missions. My love to serve and create connections with people. Having fellowship and friendship. This is world is cruel, but I have God's light in me and I'm going to let it shine throughout the world. I can only say thank you God for my beautiful Belize my ministry has flourished in my time here in Belize. I was able to work in many capacities and truly get a view into missions. My hope is to keep growing and learning more about missions. I have a fire in my soul and I want to share with my district when I get back home. I thank God this month was nothing short of amazing. Before leaving I was able to see one more soul being baptized. I can't wait to come back and see the growth God is going to pour out in Belize .

The Becerras

The Becerra's took me in and showed me the good and ugly of ministry. I honor them for how they were so willing to pour into the Aimers and teach us to serve. God is so good! From the bottom of my heart thank you .
