Saying Goodbye is never easy

As we leave the streets of Benin behind there will always be the memories of the past two months that will never leave. All of the lessons learned and the friendships that were made will continue to be a key factor in our journeys as we continue to pursue God's call.

French 101

It is so sad to see French classes come to an end.

We were honored to be able to serve in an orphanage.

Lasting impacts

The impact one invitation can make on someone's life is truly amazing. Also the impact that is made when a person answers the call to go. Not only can God use that person but often He uses the people around them to mold them into all He has for them.
