The first half of this trip has been full of wonderful experiences; I've not only learned from my leaders here but from the Beninese people as well!

The training we had was amazing; it has changed my outlook on parts of life and how I pray!

While we have had an excellent French teacher, trying to connect with the people has been an adventure. It has opened my eyes to see the struggle of spreading the gospel when there are so many different languages! These people are in need of God's word and they don't have the opportunity to read it for themselves because its not written in their language!

The people here have such a strong love for God, their worship is beautiful and seeing their love for Him has reignited a fire within me. I have learned to give Him the glory and am continuing to learn to let go and let Him have His way.

Towards the end of June we went on our first evangelizing trip and it was great! It was my first time out reaching in that way and I was given the opportunity to witness to and pray over a family. I'm so thankful for the oportunities I've already had and the oportunities to come. Thank you to everyone who has been a part of making this happen!
